DREYFUS MAY BE BROUGHT BACK.

Court of Cassation Will Probably Order His Re-Examination.
BLAME FOR THE ARMY.
Announcement Made That Count Esterhazy Has Been Deprived of Legion of Honor.
FASHODA IS QUIETING DOWN.
French Press Displays a Much More Conciliatory Spirit in Speaking of the Marchand-Kitchener Incident.

Paris, Oct. 30.—Nowhere is there any sign of agitation to-day. The city is quiet. The anti-Semite papers vainly endeavor, by abusing the judges of the Court of Cassation, to lash the public into a hostile demonstration, but the people seem rather inclined to resent the culpability or ineptitude of the high officers of the General Staff, who allowed themselves to become the prey of unscrupulous forgers.

This refers especially to the officers deputed to investigate the Dreyfus affair. It is believed even now that important facts are being concealed in order to shield the Headquarters Staff.

Most of the Paris papers approve the decision of the Court of Cassation, although the Gaulois and the Eclair declare that even now revision is by no means certain.

The Liberte bows to the decision, but does not think it will end the agitation. The Figaro announces that Count Esterhazy has been deprived of his membership in the Legion of Honor.

The Dreyfus decision seems to have delayed a solution of the Cabinet crisis. M. de Freycenet is again hesitating to accept the portfolio of Minister of War on the ground that, in view of the role the Protestants have played in the Dreyfus case, it would be inadvisable for two Protestants, himself and M. Ribot, to hold the portfolios of War and Justice.

The French press is beginning to manifest a much more conciliatory spirit regarding Fashoda, apparently with a view to preparing the public mind for the recall of the Marchand expedition.

By Saturday's decision the Court of Cassation obtains the most absolute control over the Dreyfus case. It can demand and examine any documents whatsoever, and can examine under oath any witness, however high his position.

In short, if the Court makes a sincere use of its powers, the truth will have a much better chance of being discovered than would have been the case had it merely ordered a revision before another court martial, whose members might have been actuated by a desire to shield the general staff.

Its proceedings will not be public, and there can, therefore, be no objection to a communication to it of the alleged secret dossier. If this is still in existence, while the numerous generals who have expressed their belief in the guilt of Dreyfus will now be called upon to explain the grounds of their conviction.

Although the liberation of Dreyfus has not been ordered, the Court can order him brought to France at any moment, and probably do so at an early stage of the inquiry.

The court refrained from ordering his release on Saturday, because it would have been a presumption of his innocence.

M. Paul Deschamps, of the Patriote, turned the patriotic manifestation of the soldiers who fell there in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 into a revolutionary demonstration against the Government of the Court of Cassation. He delivered a violent anti-Dreyfus speech.

M. Marcel Habert, member of the Chamber of Deputies, followed with a still more inflammatory harangue. There were, however, no disorders.

At President Faure left the Grand Opera House to-night, about 11 o'clock, he was greeted with prolonged shouts of "Vive 'l'armee" and "A bas les Juifs!"

Count Esterhazy, it is reported, has written to several generals, demanding money under threats of exposure.

Fraulein Pecha the Latest Victim of the Disease in the City of Vienna.

Vienna, Oct. 30.—The death is announced of Fraulein Pecha, one of the two nurses who attended the late Herr Barisch, of Professor Rothmann's pathological laboratory, the first victim of the outbreak of bubonic plague in Vienna.

HANDWRITING EXPERT DEAD.

Ingils, Who Figured in the Parnell Trial, Expires in London.

London, Oct. 30.—Mr. George S. Ingils, the celebrated handwriting expert of the English Treasury, who testified before the Parnell Commission, has died of consumption.

Mr. Ingils had practiced his art in London since 1832 and was regarded as the greatest handwriting expert in Great Britain. He was employed in most of the important cases for Scotland Yard, and the Postal Department recognized the value of his services long before he became famous as an expert.

Kaiser and Empress Enter Jerusalem in Triumph.

MID BANNERS AND ARCHES.

Guns of the Citadel Roar and the Turkish Band Plays "The Watch on the Rhine."

FROM JERICHO TO BETHLEHEM.

Catholic, Greek and Armenian Patriarchs Receive the German Rulers with Addresses of Eulogy, and Then Receive Presents.

Jerusalem, Oct. 30.—The approach of their German Imperial Majesties to the city yesterday was made through triumphal arches and amid banners, garlands and ever-growing crowds, displaying in every way their enthusiasm and delight.

The formal entry through the Jaffa Gate was heralded by the roar of guns at the Citadel, where the Turkish band played the German anthem.

From the Tower of David Emperor William and the Empress Augusta Victoria proceeded on foot, amid wild cheering, to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, where they were received by the Catholic, Greek and Armenian clergy, whose patriarchs presented addresses eulogizing the devotion of Emperor William, who has since conferred decorations upon the patriarchs.

Their Majesties then proceeded to the German Evangelical Church, where the pastor presented an address.

At 6 o'clock last evening a reception was held at the German consulate, and later there was a general illumination of the city, with a display of fireworks.

To-day the Imperial pair attend service at the Evangelical Church in Bethlehem, afterward paying a visit to the Church of the Nativity.

The weather to-day has been beautiful, and everywhere the greatest enthusiasm has been displayed.

After the excursion to Jericho, Mevrad Pasha, former Grand Vizier, recently Turkish Governor of Crete and now attached to the person of Emperor William as a special representative of the Sultan, will leave the imperial suite. It is rumored that this is due to some unpleasantness.

Emperor William has sent his portrait in brilliant to Tewfik Pasha, Turkish Ambassador to Germany, who was among the high Ottoman dignitaries that received the Emperor and Empress in Constantinople.

Francis Joseph Preserves All the Flowers Used at the Funeral of Lucheni's Victim.

Vienna, Oct. 30.—The Emperor Francis Joseph has announced that he will found a number of charitable institutions in memory of the lamented Empress Elizabeth.

That the Emperor greatly reveres the memory of his late consort is shown by his attention to the smallest details.

A small bouquet placed in the hands of the Empress on her deathbed at Geneva was sent to the Emperor some days ago. He has caused the flowers to be dried and inclosed in a costly frame, which stands on His Majesty's writing table. All the other flowers laid on the deathbed have been preserved and presented to relatives.

Another "Insult to the Army" Causes the Suppression in the Republic of Lustige Blaetter.

Paris, Oct. 30.—The police have seized all the copies of the last edition of the Lustige Blaetter, intended for French readers. One of the caricatures is regarded by the authorities as a flagrant insult to the French army. The means for the (one) and for his colleague course were furnished by Professor Virechow and by the widow of Professor Helmholz.

SAYS SHE'S WIFE OF DE ROUGE MONT

Mrs. Henri Louis Grien, of Sydney, Lays That Claim.

HER ASTONISHING STORY.

Says Story-Spinner Was Associated with a Pearl Fisher, Who Is the Real Modern Crusoe.

Sydney, N. S. W., Oct. 30.—When the London Chronicle publishes the statement of William May, an old diver, of Leeds, to the effect that Louis De Rouge mont was none other than Henri Louis Grien, or Green, of this city, it establishes the identity of the man who has been setting all England agape with his stories of Crusoe-like life on a queer island of the Micronesian Archipelago.

Mrs. Grien lives in Sydney and she has recognized the portrait of De Rouge mont as that of her husband and said that she had heard from him in England through relatives there. Her husband left her presumably for New Zealand last May and she has not seen him since. Mrs. Grien is the daughter of a Queensland property owner and a woman who is connected with several of the best families of Australia.

She was married to Grien in Newtown in 1883. Mrs. Grien says: "A man called Cecil de Rouge mont was an old chum of my husband. Some years ago the two men were engaged in business among the islands of the Pacific. Cecil suddenly passed out of Henri's life, and I am unable to say whether the man died or is still alive, and living in America, as I have sometimes suspected. When I first met him in Sydney he was a pearl diver and seemed to tell some queer tales of his early life among the blacks. He used to relate stories of Northern Australia and tell of his adventures there. His narratives were fully as remarkable as those told by the man calling himself Henri de Rouge mont to the people of London. He was well posted on the peculiarities of the natives, and professed to speak a number of bush dialects. His body was scarred in places, and these wounds were made, he claimed, by the spears and knives of bushmen into whose hands he had fallen, and by whom he was held captive for six months, narrowly escaping death at their hands."

Sir George Newman, in his new publication, "The Wide World," introduced Henri de Rouge mont to the wonder-loving readers of the English language. His stories of adventure were so marvellous that many people doubted the possibility of their veracity. London was split into two camps, the pro-Rougemonts and the anti-Rougemonts. Among those who believed in the modern Crusoe were the learned societies before whom he appeared, while the Daily Telegraph led the attack against this new dealer in the marvellous.

Up to date the De Rouge mont controversy is unsettled, but there is one thing certain in the whole matter—the excellent advertising gained by "The Wide World."

BELGRADE.

BRIGANDS KEPT THEIR FATAL VOW.

Hanged a Wealthy Captive as They Had Declared They Would.

Belgrade, Oct. 30.—News has reached here of a high-handed outrage on the part of a band of brigands in Eastern Serbia. A few days ago while Paul Gornjatscha, of Metoblije, one of the wealthiest millers of Serbia, was on his way home, he was seized and carried off by the brigands.

The day after the kidnapping Mrs. Gornjatscha received a letter which told her that her husband would be released. The letter also stated that in case she did not do so they would hang the miller on a tree not far from his home.

Mrs. Gornjatscha received the letter too late to secure the ready cash either from the bank or from friends, and the next morning she found her husband's body hanging from a tree within a stone's throw of the house.

LUCCHENI LOSES HIS BRAVADO.

Slayer of the Empress Elizabeth Fears He Will Be Sent to Austria.

Geneva, Oct. 30.—Tuesday, November 8, is the day set for the trial of Lucheni, the murderer of the Empress Elizabeth. The judges have decided to try the assassin first. The anarchists Martinetti, Solvi and Caducchi are to have their trials later. The judges who will preside have been besieged with an enormous number of applications for admission to the court room during the trial. Few, however, will be permitted to be present.

Lucheni does not maintain the bravado he evinced on the day of the assassination, nor is he the same sullen, uncommunicative prisoner he was during the first month of his incarceration. He is kept in solitary confinement, and is not permitted to receive or send letters. He is growing more anxious and inquisitive as the day of his doom approaches, and is constantly making inquiries of his keepers as to his probable fate, and whether his trial will take place in Switzerland or in Austria.

Despite the assurances of his counsel, he is in constant dread that he will be extradited and surrendered to the mercy of the Quaker masters of the Department with a view to his execution.

The presiding judge of the Cour d'Assises has appointed Advocate Morand to defend Lucheni, as the assassin has previously refused to select counsel for himself.

HECKER AND LEE RECALLED.

Colonel Waring's Death Causes a Change in the Army Commission in Havana.

Havana, Oct. 30.—Colonel Hecker and Colonel Lee, of the United States Special Transportation Commission, received cables from Washington last night directing their return to Washington by the first steamer available. The supposition is that the death of Colonel George E. Waring, Jr., in New York City, has necessitated some change in the plans of the War Department.

Colonel Lee's departure will leave the Commission on Transportation and the Selection of Camp Sites without a chairman and the Quartermaster's Department with a vacant position.

Dr. O'Reilly, upon whom the chairmanship of the two commissions will devolve, will be appointed to General Wade's staff.

MUST LOAD QUICK OR LOSE $10,000.

The British steamship Ormsby, which arrived here yesterday morning after a stormy voyage of twenty-three days, had barely slowed down off Quarantine station when two tugs swung alongside and Captain Robinson, the steamship's commander, learned to his amazement that the vessel was to be loaded and hurried to sea again as fast as possible.

It was a question of putting 3,600 tons of wheat into the Ormsby's hold before midnight to-night, the captain was told, or losing $10,000 on the freight.

Once aboard the ship the freight would be considered officially shipped, and the Ormsby would be released by the charterers, Messrs. Peter Wright & Son, if the last bushel was on board before midnight of October 31. If not, they must accept the cargo.

The Ormsby was towed to Beard's Stores, in the Erie Basin, where a small army of longshoremen boarded her and prepared the vessel for her grain cargo, which was being rapidly loaded last night.

Virechow's Protege Murdered by Kurds.

Berlin, Oct. 30.—The German archaeologist Belck, who was murdered by Kurds in Armenia, was a protegee of Professor Virechow. He was sent to the Orient by the latter for the purpose of giving him an opportunity to make certain explorations and to pursue a thorough course in practical archaeology. The means for the (one) and for his colleague course were furnished by Professor Virechow and by the widow of Professor Helmholz.

Winter Plans of the Prince of Wales.

London, Oct. 30.—The plans of the Prince and Princess of Wales for the winter are about completed. They will be at Windsor Castle, with Her Majesty, for the earlier days of December, and after the holidays will make a trip to the Riviera, extending their journey enough to pay a visit to the King and Queen of Greece, at Athens.

Prince Kiu Boong Suhr, of Corea, has matriculated at Princeton, and will take a post graduate course in constitutional law, political economy and poetry. He has taken apartments in Pyne Dormitory, and has fitted them up with Oriental magnificence.

The Prince can talk learnedly on new and old systems of philosophy, and takes a deep interest in football. While attending gridiron practice the other day he contracted a severe cold, and was in McCosh Infirmary last night.

Prince Suhr was for a time an attaché of the Korean Legation in Washington, and of the progressive party in Corea. He is of the Yu family, of which the King is the head.

Editors with Long, Long Jobs.

Four of the Frankfurter Zeitung's Staff Have Just Completed a Quarter Century of Service.

Frankfurt, Oct. 30.—Four members of the editorial staff of the Frankfurter Zeitung, Otto Hoerth, Edmund Sack, Hugo Seiwald and Dr. Josef Stern, have just celebrated the twenty-fifth year of their connection with that paper.

The Frankfurter being a journal of much independence, each editor has, in his time, enjoyed the unwelcome attentions of the German Government. Altogether their periods of imprisonment under the blessing of imperial rule amount to three years and a half. Despite Government opposition the Zeitung is one of the most powerful papers of the Fatherland.

The District of Camberwell Swept by a Veritable Tornado.

MANY PERSONS HURT

Houses Unroofed, Chimneys Blown Down and Cabs Overturned.

LOSS TO PROPERTY VERY HEAVY.

An Area of Half a Mile Square About Denmark Hill Swept by the Storm.

London, Oct. 30.—During a severe storm last night a small area, about a half mile square, around Denmark Hill, Camberwell, London, was visited by a veritable cyclone.

Cabs were overturned, windows, doors, lamp posts, trees and chimneys blown down and a number of houses unroofed.

The contents of numerous hawkers' stalls were carried hundreds of yards in the air by the wind, and many people were injured by the flying debris, which also did immense damage to property.

HAIL DESTROYS LEMON CROP.

South of France Visited by a Destructive Storm of Frozen Rain-drops.

Menton, France, Oct. 30.—This district was visited by a terrific hailstorm this afternoon, which is continuing this evening. The stones are of immense size. The olive and lemon crops have been completely destroyed.

BIG FIRE IN VALE OF CASHMERE.

All the Public Buildings of Srinagar Destroyed with a Damage of Half a Million Dollars.

Bombay, Oct. 30.—Yesterday a great fire in Srinagar, one of the capitals of Cashmere, in the Vale of Cashmere, destroyed all the public buildings and many residences.

One man was killed. The damage is estimated at ten lakhs ($500,000).

WILHELMINA TO SIT TO LEMBACH.

Famous German Painter Summoned to The Hague to Make a Picture of the Young Queen.

The Hague, Oct. 30.—Professor von Lembach, the famous German portrait painter and lifelong friend of the late Prince Bismarck, has arrived here.

He was summoned by the Queen, who has commissioned him to paint her portrait in coronation robes.

OFFICE-FEVER A CUBAN EPIDEMIC.

All the Insurgents Stricken with the Restless Disease and They Want Everything in Sight.

Manzanillo, Oct. 30.—The visit of General Leonard Wood, Governor of the Military Department of Santiago, has been instrumental in bringing all the elements among the Cubans to the front. No fewer than 2,000 insurgents, of whom 500 are officers, want offices, and their clamor almost amounts to a demand.

There are two leading factions, one headed by General Jesus Rabi, and the other by General Rios. At present most of the offices are held by representatives of the Rabi faction, including the Mayor and the Custom House Inspectors.

General Wood in order to pacify the Rabi faction, has given them six positions on the rural police force, and turned over to one of their people the light-house at Cape Cruz, together with several other minor appointments.

But neither party is satisfied, each thinking that it ought to have all the offices.

TROLLEY KINGS "TO THE BAR!"

Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company Must Answer To-day for Violating Ten-Hour Law.

In continuation of the Journal's successful crusade, the Brooklyn Heights Railroad will be called to the bar in the County Court, Brooklyn, to-day to answer for having disregarded the rights of their employees by violating the ten-hour law. The company will be represented by Attorneys Sheehan and Collins.

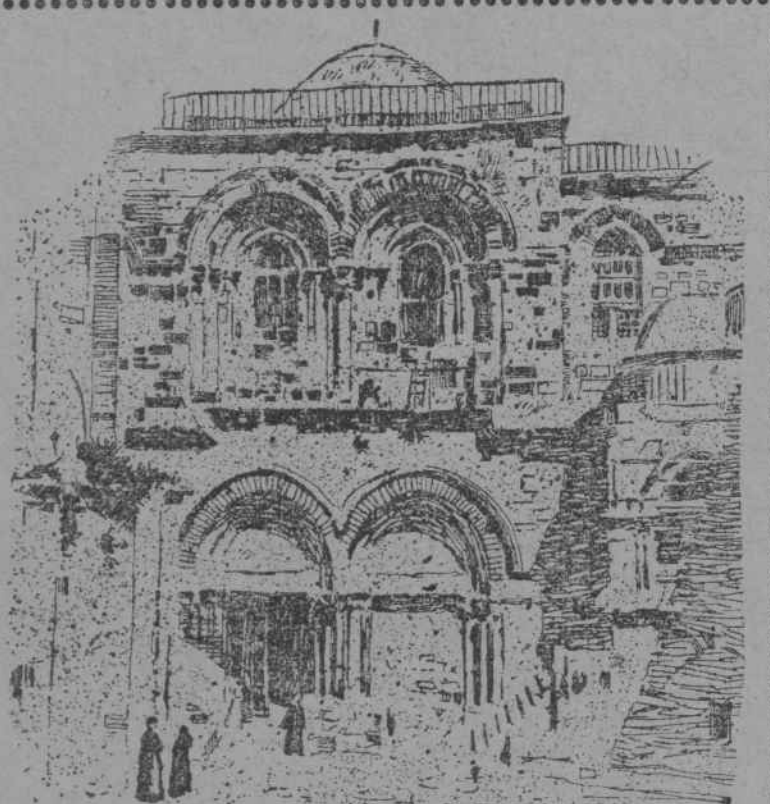

Just what plea the lawyers will make to the indictment found by the Grand Jury Saturday is a matter of speculation. Neither of the counsel could be seen last night.

This is the first time this law has been put to a test, and it is understood the company will contest its validity.

The fine for the violation of the law is placed at not less than $500 nor more than $1,000.

In the indictment against the company there are two counts—one for compelling William Morey, a motorman on the Gates avenue line in Brooklyn, to work twelve hours consecutively on October 17, and for allowing him to work the overtime.

District Attorney Morey said the evidence of the violation of the law was irrefragable, and he is prepared to fight the case to the end.

and then carefully placed them in the ground where they would be discovered—by accident, of course.

The Royal Society has reports before them of the unusual number of axes and arrowheads, or "celts," as these little flint implements are called by antiquaries, which were found at various points in the North.

It was found after some inquiry that there was in the town of Ballymena, County Down, a factory in which these implements were turned out by hundreds. It is a small factory, but its location in Ballymena is known to several antiquarians, who have taken an interest in the matter.

The "celts" and axes are made in the style of the stone age. One lake of flint is chipped into shape by another. To give them the proper appearance of age they are then placed in the red ashes of a peat fire, and left there until the fire goes out. After this they are "planted" in likely spots frequented by crickets, and turned up under the very eyes of the latter. Well-known crabs and crickets furnish an inexhaustible supply of these implements, weapons, though it would be hard to say why a fourteenth-century castle should be peppered all about its ramparts and battlements with arrowheads that date, or ought to date, far before the Christian era.
